

Northeastern University Department of History

Global History Seminar
Spring 2009

All seminars take place on Mondays from 4-6 in 406 Egan Science Center on the Northeastern campus. Seminars are followed by a wine and cheese reception.

January 26: Eliga Gould, University of New Hampshire “The World of the American Revolution.”

February 2: David Armitage, Harvard University, “The Idea of Civil War from Rome to Iraq.”

March 16: Linda Heywood, Boston University, “Queen Njinga a Mbandi in Contemporary Angola: the Making of a National Heroine.”

March 30: Eric Weitz, Distinguished McKnight University Professor, University of Minnesota and Visiting Professor, Princeton University, “In the Vortex of Nations and Empires: A Revisionist History of Human Rights from the French Revolution to the Present.”

April 6: Niall Ferguson, Harvard University, “The War of the World: A Failed Attempt at Global History.”

Directions to the Egan Science Center at Northeastern University:

Via the Green Line: take the Green Line (E-Arborway) to Northeastern University T stop. Cross Huntington Avenue (over the tracks) and walk up Forsyth Street into the Northeastern campus. Egan is at the end of the long block, on your left, just before the Orange Line T.

Via the Orange Line: take the Orange Line to Ruggles T stop. Follow signs to Northeastern. Upon exiting the station Egan is on your right.

Parking: Park in the Renaissance Garage on Columbus Avenue. We will have parking vouchers available for you. For more information contact Laura Frader 617-373-4442.