

School of Social Science, Urban Affairs, & Public Policy

Social Science Research Workshop

Tuesdays, 3:30-5:00 p.m.

415 Shillman Hall

January 16: Joan Fitzgerald, Program in Law, Policy and Society, “A Good Jobs Strategy for the U.S. Economy.”

January 30: Robert Hall, Departments of African-American Studies and History, “The Past, Present, and Future of Blacks in American Higher Education.”

February 13: Andrew Baker, Department of Political Science, “Red, Blue, and Yellow States: Why is Voting Behavior so Regionalized in Mexico and the US?”

February 27: Clay McShane, Department of History, “Nineteenth Century City Horses: the Ethnography of Another Group of Inarticulate Urban Workers.”

March 13: Barry Bluestone, Center for Urban and Regional Policy, “Impact of Housing Costs on Employment and Net Migration.”

March 27: Maria Luengo-Prado, Department of Economics, “Childhood Determinants of Risk Aversion: The Long Shadow of Compulsory Education.”

April 10: Matthew Hunt, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, “Neighborhood Racial Composition and Perceptions of Racial Discrimination.”

April 24: Denise Horn, Program in International Affairs and Department of Political Science, “Creating Pro-American Spaces: U.S. Funding for NGOs in Transitional States.”

Sponsored by the School in collaboration with the respective departments and programs. Working papers for each talk will be posted on the School’s website (www.policyschool.neu.edu/events/).

For additional information contact Christopher Bosso at c.bosso@neu.edu